

ADRIAAN GEUZE AT FLORIADE DIALOGUES

04-03-2019

On Thursday 28 March, Adriaan Geuze will speak at the first Floriade Dialogues Summit in Almere. The international summit, themed 'Green and Healthy Food Cities for all', is organized as part of the four year run-up to the 2022 Floriade Expo.

Floriade Dialogues is an international platform and network, bringing together professionals within the field of science, business and government to discuss the Floriade central theme: Growing Green Cities. Alongside Adriaan Geuze, writer Raj Patel and journalist Charles C. Mann will share their inspirational stories.

The Floriade Dialogues are organized in collaboration with the Amsterdam Institute for Advanced Metropolitan Solutions, Wageningen University & Research, Technical University Delft, Aeres University of Applied Sciences, VU University Amsterdam and Maastricht University.

The event will be in English and registration is free. For more information, please visit the Floriade's website.
